Dancing to Prison Complain. Don't Vote Eat Vitamin F No Brain Monopoly

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

A YOUNG ACTRESS, Dorothy Mackaye, convicted of attempting to conceal the fact that another gentleman beat her husband to death, went to San Quentin prison in California yesterday to spend a few years—unless some kind heart lets her out.

Crossing the ferry, she danced a few steps, and quoting, "We have our entrances and our exits," she danced into a prison cell, with reporters making notes.

One of the little lady's prison associates will be Clara Phillips, who killed another woman with a hammer.

We take our crimes lightly.

A new moving picture gives the public its choice of two professional criminals, competing with each other. They knock down other criminals, steal jewelry. The abler of the two "turns straight" when a wide-eyed, innocent little girl hands him a Bible.

The public applauds and admires both criminals. Charles Dickens' presentation of "Fagin" would seem old-fashioned.

About half the United States has no right to complain about government, good or bad. For half the people do not vote, and deserve whatever they get.

Of 54,000,000 native born and naturalized citizens, 21 years of age, only about 30,000,000 take the trouble to vote.

Other nations to which many Americans consider themselves superior, are sufficiently interested in their governments to vote. Germany, England, Ireland, Australia, Canada, vote 80 per cent. This country did that 40 years ago.

Vitamin F, essential to normal growth in animals, has been discovered at the University of California. Without vitamin F, animals only one-half their normal size. Without vitamin F, animals would die out, for lack of a second generation. Vitamins A, B, C, D, E and F are known. There remain undiscovered as do certain elements, of which a total fewer than 100 make up everything that exists in the universe. Men have learned a good deal in 17,000 years since the late Stone Age, when they didn't know anything, except how to fasten a sharp flint at the end of a club.

The government of this glorious country ought to do what it can to help business and diminish unemployment, instead of concentrating on interference with moving picture enterprises, the most successful in the world, carrying American ideas and merchandise all over the globe.

Talking about a monopoly of moving pictures is idiotic. The most successful unit in moving pictures is one individual, Charles Chaplin, who writes, directs and acts his own pictures. You may have a monopoly in steel, pork, or street cars, but not in brains.

Five more American marines killed by the energetic Nicaraguan bandit, Sandino. With war tanks, flying machines and other equipment this country should be able to send a column of marines through Nicaragua safely. If we must send military expeditions to Central America, we ought to do the thing adequately.

Scientists of California University have grown to full maturity wheat that never knew sunlight or earth. The seed is planted in water containing "the seven necessary chemicals that give the earth its fertility" and grown under artificial light. On earth this will never compete with sunlight, soil, and the "combine harvester." But if population should make it necessary, it might show a way to grow food in quantities unlimited in lakes or on the open sea.

Revelation of the fact that Mr. Sinclair gave first $160,000 to pay off debts of the Harding campaign will interest the people.

Gentlemen who contribute so liberally to national politics expect something in return. Mr. Sinclair ALMOST got a good deal for his investment.

35 ARRESTS ASKED IN LYNN NUDE DANCE RAID

BUSINESS MEN FACE COURT

Warrants for the arrest of 35 men present in a Lynn hall last night when Eve Eden, pretty Boston girl, was arrested during a raid that interrupted her dance, were ordered issued by Mayor S. Bauer today.

Very much incensed over the affair, Mayor Bauer issued a statement in which he charged that the presence of "well-known, reputable men," a majority of whom are lawyers," would be made to appear in court on charges.

Mayor Bauer went further than that. He "viewed with alarm" the dainty garment which police allege was Miss Simmons' only costume during the dance. He held it this way and he held it that way and finally he turned it over to Joseph Attwill, city clerk.

"Weigh it," ordered the mayor. Attwill placed it on his dainty scales.

"One and five-eighths ounces," he announced.

Mayor Bauer arched his eyebrows. "Not enough to make a handkerchief for a mosquito," said he.

To Chief Burckes he said: "The affair was a sendoff for one man who was going away, and there is

STILL REGISTRAR SMILES

Carl Goodwin Frank Goodwin

HE'S HAPPY THOUGH "FIRED"

Former Motor Registrar Frank A. Goodwin and his son, Carl Goodwin, snapped while leaving Commonwealth Pier office. Goodwin's removal was approved today by the Governor's Council. The ex-registrar says he's glad he's through because he now won't be "watched by detectives."

GOODWIN GLAD HE'S OUT AS REGISTRAR; CHARGES SLEUTHS 'TRAILED HIM'

Charles A. Parker, New England grand dragon administrator since 1920, and formerly commander of the state patrol, was today named as the successor of Frank A. Goodwin as registrar of motor vehicles. The appointment was made by the Governor and Executive Council on the recommendation of Public Works Commissioner William F. Williams, hours after Goodwin's removal had been approved by the Council.

While the Executive Council, by a vote of 6 to 2 was today approving the order of Commissioner of Public Works William F. Williams, ousting Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin, the latter made the startling announcement it would be a relief to know he and his sons would no longer be followed by detectives.

The announcement was made in a farewell statement issued by Goodwin in the State House, in which he said that every movement of himself and his sons had been watched.

After eight years as registrar of motor vehicles, Goodwin passed out of his office stormily, in accordance with his career as a public official, the council's action being taken after a heated session lasting an hour.

Four councillors at first insisted that Goodwin be permitted to tell his own story, and Councillors Francis W. Aldrich of Springfield and Fahr D. Holmes of Worcester held out to the end for the registrar on the theory that every man is entitled to a hearing.

In his farewell statement Goodwin said he would not accept the offer of the Commonwealth Service Association, the organization of state employes in whose behalf he has battled for years, to become their legislative agent at the same salary he received as registrar, namely $6000.

He said the cause of the state employes was dear to his heart, and he would continue to do everything he could for them as a duty and not for remuneration. The fact that he had been offered the New England selling agency for an automobile that created a sensation at the

'BABY FACE' GLEASON GRINS IN DEATH CELL

Still smiling placidly, though his scheduled death is less than a dozen days away, Herbert J. Gleason was today whisked by automobile from East Cambridge Jail to the death house at State Prison.

The "baby face bandit" was placed in cell No. 1, the cell nearest the death chamber in which he is sentenced to die during the week of March 11.

A hearing on an application by his counsel for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment will be held by Gov. Fuller at the State House next Monday at 10 a. m.

Gleason's age is said to be one reason for the appeal, but at State Prison today it was pointed out that, if he dies in the electric chair, he will not be the youngest to so die in this Commonwealth.

INDICT STANDARD OIL HEAD IN SENATE QUIZ

Washington, March 2 (AP)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was indicted by a Federal grand jury today for refusing to answer question about the Continental Trading Company's Liberty bond profits before the Senate Teapot Dome committee.

The indictment, containing two counts, charged Stewart declined to reply to queries put to him on February 1 and again on February 2. The committee had asked whether Stewart knew anyone who received any of the $2,000,000 of Continental profits or whether he had discussed the bond transaction with Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome.

It was set forth in the charges that Stewart had violated section 102 of the revised criminal statutes, which makes it a misdemeanor for a witness, regularly subpoenaed by a Senate committee to refuse to answer questions pertinent to the subject under investigation.

MANY DISABLED VETS IN INVESTORS CRASH

Many disabled World War veterans, suffering from tuberculosis and under treatment at the U. S. Federal Judge Elisha H. Brewster appointed Col. Robert E. Goodwin receiver for the company. Col. Goodwin was the referee in the Ponzi case.

General Sherburne said that he represented not only inmates of the Rutland Veterans' Hospital, but also members of the hospital staff of doctors and nurses.

"All whom I represent have paid in full for their shares but have received no return," he declared.

2 YOUTHS HELD AFTER CRIMES IN THREE TOWNS

Following a series of crimes, including a holdup, which kept police of Lexington, Arlington and Belmont hopping in the early morning hours today, two Dorchester youths were arrested and held in $6,000 bail.

The youths are charged with only one of the four crimes, but police are of the opinion that all were committed by them and are investigating.

In the holdup, which occurred in Lexington, $50 was taken from a resident of that town.

Peter J. Campbell, 21, of Train st., and Albert E. Maitland, 25, of Victory rd., both of Dorchester, are the youths arrested, being taken by police from a street car in Belmont before daylight today.

Both pleaded not guilty to breaking and entering a garage and Campbell also pleaded not guilty to having lottery tickets, while Maitland pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Their cases will come up in East Cambridge District Court March 5.

"Ace of Aces" Tries to Hop Away Secretly, Then Smiles

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh slipped over to the Boston Airport today and hopped off for Curtiss Field, New York, where he arrived at 11 o'clock.

It was supposed to be a secret leaving, but on the chance that the "Lone Eagle" would make such a move, five reporters and three photographers were at the port.

With him in the Ryan X-model monoplane when he stopped off were H. Allen Sullivan, his representative and representing also the Daniel Guggenheim Fund; Maj. William B. Robertson, president of the Curtiss Robertson Aircraft Corporation, and Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Lindy hopped off at 7:43 a. m. from a field where only sixteen persons stood watching, in contrast to the thousands assembled there yesterday for his arrival.

In coming yesterday from Schenectady, N. Y., to Boston, the colonel averaged only 91 miles an hour.

Gets An Early Start

There was not a reporter around the Navy Yard when Lindy, in a car with Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Philip Andrews, left Charlestown and rode to the Boston Airport.

At the Airport there suddenly appeared also Sullivan, Robertson and Bixby. The reporters and camera men came out of their langnor and went into action, but Lindbergh, stepping out of the Admiral's car, vanished immediately into the little green field headquarters building.

He remained in the building with the others for about ten minutes, then strode out and ducked into hangar No. 2, where his monoplane was housed.

There were two soldier mechanics accompanying him. Lindy climbed directly into the cabin of the brougham-plane. Apparently he had instructed the mechanics, for they went to the propeller, turned it to a compression point with switch off, then spun the prop with "contact."

Lindy "breezed" the motor once or twice with the throttle, then cut her down bit by bit until she was just above idling.

Tests Motor

The reporters and photographers had been asked to wait outside. Robertson and Bixby were outside also, but they would give no information as to plans or destination, stating with smiles that Lindy had requested them not to.

Robertson then came out of the hangar into which he had strolled and said that Lindy wanted to see the reporters. They went in.

"Watch out for the prop, boys," warned the Lone Eagle. He was dressed as yesterday in blue overcoat, light gray soft hat, dark gray suit, blue tie and black shoes. Big black gauntlets were on his hands.

"Fellows," said Lindy to the newspapermen, "I have no comment to make, as you probably know by now, in regard to my destination, but I didn't want to leave until I told you how much I appreciate the courtesies here in leaving me alone as much as you could without laying down on your own jobs.

"It is your day's work, I realize, but you know it gets terribly wearing sometimes. I want to shake hands."

He shook hands with the five reporters. One asked if he would pose for a picture with Admiral Andrews. The smile left his face instantly.

"Please keep the cameras away," he pleaded. "I'm sick of being pictured. I'm sick of it all—the whole business."

Then he warned to watch out for the propeller, as Sullivan and the mechanics wheeled the plane out of the hangar. As they walked out with Lindy, the photographers came up and one asked if he would pose for just one snap.

"Well, I suppose it is your job, fellows," he remarked and went and stood by the monoplane while the shutters clicked. Then as climbed into the cabin with his three passengers and taxied to the east end of the field,

New York show was revealed by the former registrar, who said he had not accepted it as yet. He refused to say whether or not he had political aspirations.

No information could be obtained as to the appointment of a successor to Goodwin, although as a result of a conference between Governor Fuller and Commissioner Williams it was expected that an announcement would be forthcoming later in the day.

In the meantime Anthony A. Bonanni of Winthrop, deputy registrar and the man prominently mentioned to succeed Goodwin, was carrying on as acting registrar.

The former registrar himself, in a letter to the Executive Council early today, revealed that he had learned of the possibility of the appointment of Herman MacDonald, secretary of the Governor, as registrar. Goodwin declared if this proved true he would demand a hearing, but if MacDonald were not appointed he would submit quietly to removal.

MacDonald said he had not even been considered for the position, but if he had been considered he would have been happy to have had Goodwin present at the hearing to approve his appointment. To this Goodwin replied:

"He wouldn't be half as happy to have me there as I would to be there."

COUNCIL IN CLASH.

At the outset of the Executive Council's session, a battle developed on the question of giving the Registrar a personal hearing. Councillors Aldrich, Holmes, Duff of New Bedford and Fraser of Lynn demanding that Goodwin be brought before the Council, of whom there were seven members in session.

It is understood that Councillors Duff and Fraser were induced to relinquish their stand by Governor Fuller, but Aldrich and Holmes stood firm although outvoted. On the question of approving the removal order of Commissioner Williams, Fraser and Duff were said to have been desirous of opposing it but were induced to vote with the majority through the intervention of the Governor.

Goodwin was at the State House when the result was made known, and immediately issued the following statement:

"It is a great relief to be told I will no longer be followed by detectives. It is a relief also to my two sons, who have been under tremendous restraint because their every action has been watched.

UNDECIDED ON PLANS

"I have not definitely decided what I will do. The Commonwealth Service Association has offered to engage me at the same salary I am now getting, but of course I will not accept that, for the cause of the State employes is dear to my heart and I will do everything I can for them as a duty for nothing.

"I have been offered an opportunity at present for a New England selling agency for an automobile which recently made a sensation at the New York show. I have not yet accepted."

William L. Reed, secretary of the Executive Council, made public the correspondence that passed in connection with Goodwin's removal. The first was a communication from Commissioner Williams to the Governor and Council, reading:

"I am hereby transmitting for your approval notice of the removal of Frank A. Goodwin from the office of registrar of motor vehicles, as provided in section 5, chapter 16 of the general laws."

The next was the notification sent Goodwin, which read:

"A hearing appears not from the office of Registrar of Motor Vehicles as provided in Sec. 5, Chapt. 16, General Laws, having been considered, it was voted your removal of said Frank A. Goodwin from the office of Registrar of Motor Vehicles is approved."

After the meeting of the Council, Councillor Aldrich issued a statement in behalf of himself and Councillor Holmes, as follows:

"I voted for Goodwin because I don't believe in star chamber sessions. I think every man ought to have his day in court. Councillor Holmes stood with me."

This morning Goodwin was at his office as usual, waiting for the Executive Council to act. His arrival was the signal for a spontaneous demonstration of loyalty and affection on the part of the employes in his department, which disturbed the hard-boiled registrar's poise.

While he would not discuss his plans for the future, he remarked incidentally that he would now have an opportunity to fulfil a lot of speaking engagements, including one in Malden.

This last credence to the belief that he is planning to enter the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination against Lieut.-Gov. Frank G. Allen.

Lindy Gives Check to "Old Ironsides" Repair Fund

Before leaving for New York today, Lindbergh handed a "generous" check to Rear Admiral Philip A. Andrews, commandant of the First Naval District, to be used toward the frigate Constitution restoration fund.

Admiral Andrews was host to Lindbergh during the flier's 24-hour stay in the Hub and Lindbergh slept at the admiral's house at the Boston Navy Yard last night.

While at the navy yard he inspected "Old Ironsides" at her dock. Admiral Andrews would not reveal the size of the check but said it was for a "generous amount."

'Ma' Lets Lindy Secret Out; He'll Go West

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is going to California, his mother revealed today during the course of the shortest address ever delivered in the House of Representatives.

Expressing regret that her son was not at her side, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh said:

"California claims his presence."

At the time she was speaking, Lindy was landing on Long Island at the completion of the first leg of a "mystery flight" which started at the Boston airport early today.

Questioned later whether the "Lone Eagle" would hop across the continent immediately, Mrs. Lindbergh replied: "You'll have to ask him."

A tremendous ovation by the legislators and crowded galleries greeted Mrs. Lindbergh and Miss Cornelia Marr of Richmond, Va., president of the National Education Association, when Governor Fuller escorted them to the House chamber.

Representative M. Sylvia Donaldson of Brockton and Marring, N. Brooks of Gloucester, the two women members of the Legislature, walked with the distinguished guests to the Speaker's rostrum.

Speaker Hull first introduced Miss Adair, who expressed the thanks of the educators for the hospitality of the city and State extended to them during the conference.

The speaker then introduced Mrs. Lindbergh in these words:

"The House is also honored with the presence of a school teacher from the Cass high school in Detroit, who also is the mother of that flying ambassador of good will who has thrilled not only the hearts of his countrymen, but of every inhabitant of the civilized world.

"Like her distinguished son, she is very modest and asks to be excused from saying anything, but it is my honor to present Mrs. Lindbergh to the House."

Using a woman's prerogative, Mrs. Lindbergh changed her mind. She decided to say something. It was:

"Thank you for the opportunity to be present. I am sorry that Col. Lindbergh is not at my side. It was impossible for him to be here, as California claims his presence."

Lindy's Ma Motors to Providence as Luncheon Guest

Providence, R. I., March 2 (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh arrived here today by motor from Boston to attend a luncheon meeting of educators who have been in conference in Boston.

Unfavorable weather conditions prevented her from coming here in the plane in which she made the hop from Detroit to Boston.

LINDY GIVES MOTHER AN UNPOLISHED PEARL

Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh was presented with an unpolished pearl at Mechanics Building by her illustrious son, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, it became known today. Lindy handed his mother the pearl wrapped in a handkerchief. It was given to him in Panama during the course of his good-will tour. He was seen to hand his mother the close-rolled cloth last night, but few onlookers knew what was in it.

DOLLY DEACON IN DESERT ROMANCE TO RE-WED PRINCE

WILL REMARRY NOBLEMAN

The report that Dorothy Deacon is to remarry Prince Albert Antoine Radziwill has stirred European social circles. The report of her new romance came with the arrival of a yachting party at Monte Carlo.

Mrs. Harry Gray, formerly Edith Deacon, was with her sister when the latter met the former husband in the Egyptian desert.

This is an artist's conception of how the Boston society girl met her former husband in the shadow of the Sphinx. The sisters were held up by tire trouble when another car approached. Both women were veiled and they accepted the offer of a lift. Prince Radziwill was in the car.

WHEN SHE WAS A PRINCESS

"Dolly" Deacon's wedding to Prince Radziwill was an outstanding social event. She divorced him to wed Count D'Erdods, Hungarian cavalry officer, from whom she is now free.

MOTHER OF MRS. COOLIDGE HAS 'GOOD NIGHT'

Northampton, March 2 (AP)—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, 78-year-old mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, today was resting "quite comfortably" after a good night at the Dickinson Hospital. This report was made to the wife of the President when she visited her mother this forenoon.

Mrs. R. B. Hills of this city, who accompanied Mrs. Coolidge from Washington, called at the Coolidge home on Massasoit st., at 11 o'clock, and then drove Mrs. Coolidge and John F. Fitzgerald, secret service man, to the hospital.

Mrs. Coolidge immediately went to her mother's room, which is filled with spring flowers brought from Washington.

Mrs. Goodhue has been confined at the hospital since December 11, soon after she was stricken with influenza. Dr. Justin E. Hayes, her personal physician, has said she has been failing slowly due to complications incidental to her advanced age.

'DOLLY' DEACON IS TO RE-WED RADZIWILL

Monte Carlo, March 2—The beautiful Dorothy Deacon of Boston, one of the Deacon sisters, internationally famous for their charm and beauty, is to remarry Prince Albert Antoine Radziwill.

This report was brought from Egypt by a yachting party of prominent Americans, all of whom were brimful of the news when they reached this resort.

Few save the beautiful woman's most intimate friends in American knew that she had been divorced from Count Paul Fairy D'Erdods, whom she married soon after her divorce from Prince Radziwill.

The yachting party was athrill with the romance of the coming remarriage for it reads like one of the "sheik novels."

"Dolly" Deacon and her sister, Mrs. Harry Gray, who was Edith Deacon, were motoring across the desert early in the morning to see the sun rise over the Sphinx. There was tire trouble, and the women were in a quandary until another automobile appeared. Both the sisters were heavily veiled, and they gladly accepted the offer of a lift.

Then "Dolly" Deacon found herself beside the man whom she had married nearly two decades ago, Prince Radziwill.

The new romance was born there on the desert.

"Dolly" Deacon is also a sister of the present Duchess of Marlborough, who married the Duk after the sensational annulment of his marriage to the present Madame Jacques Balsan, daughter of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

DEMAND U. S. FORCES BE WITHDRAWN IN NICARAGUA

Washington, March 2 (INS)—The deaths of five marines in a recent battle in Nicaragua today drew renewed demands in the Senate for immediate withdrawal of all American forces.

Senator Dill (D.) of Washington led the demand, criticizing the Senate foreign relations committee for failing to act on resolutions which would urge the withdrawal. Dill drew applause by declaring he opposed the "sacrifice of American lives to protect the profits of American investors in Nicaragua."

BROKER AGAIN IN COURT IN STOCK DEAL

George L. Ware, Devonshire st. broker whose efforts in high finance often landed him in court, faced the law again today, this time on charges of inducing an investor of $3500 and conducting a bucket shop.

The request of his attorney, John Leahy, for a lengthy continuance, was flatly refused by Judge Michael Murray in municipal court and the case will be disposed of March 8.

The charges specify that Ware stole $3500 from Morris Rodgers of Cummings rd., Brighton, and that he kept a bucket shop at 185 Devonshire st. A group of other alleged victims was in court seeking warrants against him, but none were granted.

Inspectors Frank J. Haggerty and George Farrell represented the government.

Judge Murray was somewhat puzzled when Attorney Leahy appeared for Ware. The papers indicated that Attorney P. J. Delaney was to appear for the defendant. Called to explain the muddle, Delaney said Michael Lyons, a friend, had filed his name.

The career of Ware in Boston brokerage circles has been flamboyant, and he has often faced the bar under similar charges. He tried to reach the pinnacle of fame through the famous promotion of Mutual Divide. In this affair he ran amuck of the late Thomas Lawson, the famous "Copper King," who almost wrecked Ware's concern.

U. S. AUTO EXPORTS SET NEW HIGH MARK

Washington, March 2 (A.P.)—Automobile products exported from the United States during January set a new seasonal high record. The total value was reported by the Commerce Department today as $32,376,127, nearly 7 per cent above exports in January, 1927, and 20 per cent above January, 1926. The motorization of the world is resulting in installations abroad of gasoline filling stations on an ever increasing scale.

PAU GRATEFUL FOR SCHMITT PAINTING, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Cambridge Artist Presents Admired "Dancing Nymph" to Art Museum of Noted French Resort

TIDINGS FROM PAU, IN FRANCE, DISCLOSE A GRACIOUS ACT OF AN AMERICAN CELEBRITY —Albert Felix Schmitt, internationally known painter of Cambridge. As an expression of appreciation for Pau, for France and for the French people Mr. Schmitt has presented to the Museum of Art in Pau one of his most admired paintings. It is his "Dancing Nymph," a work lauded by the critics and admired by the laity for its beauty and inspiration. The Schmitts are spending the winter in Pau, where the artist member of the family is alternately hard at work in his studio or basking in the sun at the Riviera resort.

MR. SCHMITT FEELS SPECIALLY HONORED TO BE ASKED TO SHOW HIS WORK AT THE coming exhibition of the Museum of Art at Pau. His "Blonde Girl" and his "Dancing Nymph" will hang in the beautiful salon from March 15, or the smart colony at Pau and the old French nobility living thereabouts to see. And the "nymph" stays permanently. The president of the museum was quite overjoyed at the presentation, and expressed that joy with a typical Gallic fervor and salutations.

NOT FOR A YEAR OR MORE WILL MR. SCHMITT AND HIS POPULAR SPOUSE BE BACK IN the home bailiwick. They pulled up stakes in Cambridge last December, closed their handsome colonial mansion out in Brattle st., and hied themselves to Pau. There Mr. Schmitt sets up his working studio, anticipating a "one man" show in Paris in the future, and there alternately they do the correct social thing in that most exclusive of Riviera colonies and devote the days to art. The exhibition opening March 15 is most important; works from Paris and elsewhere will be shown, and eminent French critics will be there to write it up.

FORTUNATE THE GENTLEMAN SPORTSMAN (AND THE feminine of the species as well) counted within the friendship fold of F. Ambrose Clark. That perfect host and prince of sportsmen has taken Bective House, County Meath, Ireland, for several weeks and has been entertaining a houseful of congenial spirits. Boston society that rides after the streaming pack feels itself closely identified with Bective House, since various of its members have frequently spent a month there for the hunting, and since Bective House came into Boston's ken mainly through Richard Ely Danielson and Charles Sumner Bird's direction.

Hub Music Lovers Evince Great Interest in Concert of Lucretia Goddard Bush at Symphony Hall, Sunday

IT IS COUNTY MEATH, IN IRELAND, THAT S. NASON HAMLIN IS DESTINED FOR. MR. HAMLIN is now outbound and will be away for a month or six weeks with the pleasant intention of doing some hunting, doing some fishing, making a round of country house visits, shopping in London and taking in the Grand National. Then having done all these things as joyously as one of Mr. Hamlin's proclivities can, he comes back to town to see that polo at the Dedham Country and Polo Club commences its season with vim and vigor. Polo is that sort of pastime.

BOSTON, OF THE YOUNGER SET, IS ALSO INTERESTED REGRETFULLY IN ANOTHER traveler outbound. Young Mr. Thomas Barr Smith, Australian globe trotter extraordinary, takes his departure amid the lamentations of his local friends. Mr. Barr Smith's stay in town with headquarters at the Country Club, Brookline, was punctuated by a series of brilliant entertainments. Not soon will his clique forget his farewell dinner, at the club. It was the ne plus ultra, recalled joyously by those asked, and enviously by those not so favored.

WITH THE NONCHALANCE THAT OFTEN MARKS THE WORLD TRAVELER HAILING FROM Australia, Mr. Barr Smith just before he left Boston dropped down to the West Indies for a fourweeks' cruise through the Tropics and the Spanish Main. Now his immediate destination is England, his eventual one Australia. With him go many good wishes for bon voyage, and a safe and as speedy as may be return to these shores, preferably at Boston.

SOME BOSTONIANS BORN AND BRED, INVETERATE TRAVELERS, ARE NOW ON THEIR HOMEward way. I make mention particularly of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saltonstall of Milton. They come via the France, on which steamship they have been doing a Mediterranean cruise, with brief sallies into Switzerland and more lengthy ones into Africa. They have a travel log extremely up to date, have the Saltonstalls. Several pages of the log are devoted to describing their motor tour straight across Northern Africa. Now to them the country of the Riffs, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco are colorful realities and not merely bright pictures in cunningly worded travel booklets.

MR. AND MRS. GRAFTON SMITH, whose marriage at the home of the bride, then Janice Vaughn of Hamilton, was solemnized in a quiet home wedding Wednesday, sail on the Berengaria from New York for an extended honeymoon trip throughout Europe. The young couple will return about the middle of May in time for the yachting races at Marblehead and will make their home on Lime st.

SOCIETY IS EVINCING GREAT interest in the concert debut of Lucretia Goddard Bush which takes place at Symphony Hall Sunday evening. Miss Bush is the charming daughter of the Henry Sturgis Bushes of Chestnut Hill. She made her operatic debut in the role of Marguerite in "Faust" 18 months ago at the Boston Opera House before an enthusiastic and select audience. Associated with Miss Bush in her Symphony Hall concert will be Mario Basiola, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Co., New York. The singers will do a long program of songs, operatic arias and a duet.

SMITH COLLEGE PROWLER HELD IN ASSAULT

Northampton, March 2 (AP)—Louis Simon, 33, of Westfield, today was committed to jail in default of bail after he pleaded not guilty to accosting Smith College girls with offensive language.

Simon, when arraigned in district court, pleaded guilty to assaulting Special Officer George F. Geise, Smith College watchman, who arrested him last night on the college campus.

Geise charged that he chased Simon after students complained that he had appeared on the porch of Wallace House, a college dormitory, and motioned them to open a window. When Geise caught Simon after a chase about the campus, the latter struck the watchman on the jaw.

Geise, however, was able to subdue Simon and held him until Patrolman Bertram Powers reached the scene, after being summoned by Franklin King, superintendent of Smith College buildings.

Simon was unable to furnish the $400 bail when the hearing of the case was postponed until March 7.

Here's Why We Have No Bananas: We Eat 'Em All Up!

New York, March 2 (INS)—The composer of "Yes, We Have No Bananas" is respectfully referred to Victor M. Cutter, millionaire president of the United Fruit Company.

Cutter, who arrived here today from a five weeks' trip through the Caribbean country said:

"America is the greatest banana consuming country in the world. New Yorkers eat more bananas than the people of any other city.

"Last year the United States consumed 15,000,000 stems of bananas. There are about 140 bananas to a stem, so the people of this country ate about 7,000,000,000 bananas."

WOMAN VICTIM OF ATTACK BY TAXI DRIVER

Mrs. Marjorie Conlan, 36, of 49 Alexander st., Dorchester, is in serious condition in City Hospital today, following a desperate attempt to assault her, when she told police of attempts by the taxicab driver attacked her.

The young woman was found lying in a dazed condition in Amory st., Roxbury, by two passersby. Revived, she became hysterical and was sicking when carried into the police station.

Then she told police that she had engaged the taxicab in Pierce st., Jamaica Plain, driving some distance, when the driver stopped the machine and got back into the tonneau.

Then according to the woman's story, there battle ensued the two struggling from side to side of the car. Fully, Mrs. Conlan said, she wrenched free and started to leave the cab, as she was doing so the driver struck her in the face and she fell, conscious, to the street. The taxicab driver apparently drove hastily off.

RECOVER MORE LEATHER LOST IN BIG THEFT

Lynn police today recovered more leather alleged to have been stolen from the Bentz Kid Company for the use of other manufacturers and the two employees of the Bentz concern who were arrested last night were held in $5000 bail each in Lynn District Court.

Police had Judge Ralph W. Reeve postpone trial of the two employes to March 12 on the ground that the recovery of much more leather is expected and the arrest of other men imminent.

The additional recovery of leather today consisted of 30 bales found in an Essex st. shoe factory, the police reported.

The thefts will total $750,000 in the opinion of the investigators assigned to the case by Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward F. Flynn of Essex county, who is responsible for the discovery of the alleged plot.

Thomas H. Kelly of Veronia st., and Charles E. Morgan of Lawton ave., both of Lynn, were arraigned before Judge Reeve, the former charged with larceny and the latter with conspiracy. Morgan could not put up the $5000 bail demanded and begged to have it reduced, but this was refused.

Kelly, employed at a salary of $75 a week as a factory superintendent, put up the amount required of him.

It is believed nearly a dozen leather concerns have been operating for five years on stock stolen from the Bentz Kid Company, largest manufacturers of vici kid in the world. Police believe the arrested employes were merely small figures in a huge conspiracy.

$1000 A DAY

According to the police, the thefts have amounted to almost $1000 a day since they began. The method used, the police say, was to ship packages of expensive leather without recording the shipments on the company's books, and with nothing to show in the inventory that the leather had left the factory.

Asst.-Dist. Atty. Edward F. Flynn of Essex County received word that two packages of Brazilian vici kid, stolen from the Bentz company, had been shipped by parcel post from Lynn to Marblehead, and they were found in the home of a Marblehead manufacturer whose name was not given out.

BANS MORE PAY

Rev. Arthur Hopkinson of Everett declines to accept $500 a year more while his church is in a drive to raise $20,000.

MINISTER AT EVERETT BARS RAISE IN PAY

For the last two springtimes, the Rev. Arthur Hopkinson, Methodist minister, has received a salary increase of $500, one in Lynn and one in Everett—but today he refused a similar raise.

The Rev. Mr. Hopkinson is pastor of the Glendale Methodist Church in Glendale sq., Everett. The fourth quarterly conference of the church voted the increase.

In refusing it today, the minister said that the congregation cannot afford to raise his salary at this time, as it was necessary to drive for $20,000 to finance the building recently completed to replace the church burned down some months ago.

The Rev. Mr. Hopkinson, who is married and the father of two sons, is 43 years old. Without the money he has rejected, his salary is $3,000 a year. Formerly he was pastor of St. Luke's Church, Lynn, which voted him a $500 raise in the spring of 1926. Last year the Everett church increased his salary by $500.

JAIL GIRL-WIFE AS HUBBY FAILS TO AID HER

Sentenced to serve one month in the House of Correction, chiefly because her husband would not support her story, Mrs. Celia Doherty, 19, of Western ave., Cambridge, fainted today in East Cambridge district court. A matron administered treatment.

The young wife was found guilty of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. Her husband was found not guilty on this charge, but was sent to the State Farm for drunkenness.

Patrolman Timothy Callahan of Cambridge testified that on February 12 Mrs. Doherty summoned him to her home to quiet her husband, who was drunk. He said that she showed him a large supply of alcohol in a closet and complained that her husband made her sell it.

Taking the stand in her own behalf, Mrs. Doherty said the policeman's story was correct and that she was forced by her husband to sell liquor. But Doherty denied her story and, because of his wife's admission that she had offered liquor for sale, she was found guilty.

DOLLY DEACON TO REMARRY

was an outstanding social event in American society almost two decades ago. When the American princess divorced her husband to marry the dashing Hungarian cavalry officer, Count D'Erdods, five years ago, her friends thought she had finally found happiness. Only last year the countess became the mother of a baby boy.

But domestic difficulties caused another rift in their married bliss. The countess wanted occasionally to visit Paris to see old American and continental friends. The count, whose family dates back to 1330, refused this permission. He is reputed to have countered: "Let them come to Budacest. Let them visit our ancestral halls."

An expeditious Hungarian divorce was subsequently the only solution, and the countess became free for the second time last November. She and her sister, Mrs. Harry Gray of New York, decided to winter in Egypt.

Newark, N. J., March 2 (INS)—Another legal battle over the $8,000,000 damage verdict returned against the estate of James B. Duke, tobacco magnate, on February 16, was started in Federal Court here today before Judge William N. Runyon with a motion to have the verdict set aside on the grounds that the verdict was excessive.

Homer S. Cummings, counsel for George D. Haskell, of Springfield, Mass., who received the damage verdict, has moved that the amount of damages be tripled under a provision of the Sherman Anti-Trust act.

arraigned today and held in $2000 by Judge Morton after he pleaded not guilty. The rest have not yet been arraigned.

The Government charges that Kotzen gave Mrs. Polansky a mortgage for $1400 covering stock machinery and accounts receivable of his company, that she foreclosed and that the company petitioned itself into bankruptcy, declaring it had no assets. An auction was then conducted by Shaw, it is alleged at which Mrs. Polansky sold the property back to Kotzen for $2000, according to an alleged preconceived plan.

YOUNG GLEASON GRINS IN DEATH HOUSE CELL

Monagle, South Medford storekeeper. Gleason has had two birthdays his twentieth and twenty-first, the latter being last December 19. Leona Gong, a 19-year-old Chinaman was electrocuted in 1909 and Antoni Ipsen was put to death in 1911 at the same age.

But Gleason appears several years younger than 21. The unruffled calm that characterized him at his trial was the same today. His sheets were still rosy. In spite of months in jail.

A smile played on his lips as he stepped from the automobile which carried him. Sheriff John R. Fairbairn and an East Cambridge jail guard to the death house door. Gleason was handcuffed to the guard Warden William Hendry of State prison and Deputy Warden James Hogsett met the auto at the death house.

Gleason wore a gray cap and blue serge suit. Once in his new abode, these were exchanged for the gray shirt and pants of death house inmates. He was given slippers instead of the shoes he wore when he arrived.

Asked if he wanted anything special for dinner, he ordered two fried eggs, apple pie and coffee, and also asked for cigarettes. All were supplied.

It was expected that the condemned youth would be lodged in another part of State Prison for a few days. As he was placed directly in the death house he will have at least eleven days in that grim situation. If he is not saved he will probably go to the chair early in the morning of March 12.

MAY NAB 35 FOR DANCE 'VISION'

no reason why it could not have been done in a nice way. It took six months to get the participants in Errol Carroll's bathtub case and I'm damned if anything like this will take place in Lynn.

"Take this as an order from me I want this case thoroughly investigated. I want warrants taken out for every man present and I want them brought into court. The affair is a disgrace to this city."

Miss Simmons, whose dance was witnessed by members of the vice squad occupying vantage points on a roof in Central sq., appeared in court today, but the case was continued until tomorrow.

And tomorrow, if Mayor Bauer's instructions are carried out, 35 prominent Lynn men will appear in court with their entertainer. Members of the police raiding party say they know every man who was present, even though, when they entered, the audience faded like morning mist before a rising sun.

There was a wholesale exchange of hats and coats today following the raid. Well known men about town grabbed the nearest garments, regardless of ownership, when the doors crashed in. In today's exchanges everybody came out about even, but even if they hadn't Miss Simmons' apparel, not their own, would have constituted their chief source of worry.

All Malden Pays Honor to Its First Clerk

Malden today paid signal honor to Leverett D. Holden, the only city clerk it ever had and the oldest in service in the state, on the occasion of his 85th birthday.

From all over the city, municipal, church and military dignitaries went personally to pay him tribute. Telegrams and flowers from other parts of the state were received during the day.

On April 9 Mr. Holden will observe his 60th wedding anniversary. He is the only surviving charter member of the Malden G. A. R. post and has been city clerk since the incorporation of the city. He is married and has two daughters.

BRAKEMAN FALLS TO HIS DEATH UNDER TRAIN

George A. Rocco, 51, of Medford, a brakeman employed by the Boston & Maine Railroad, was killed today when he fell under a train in the West Somerville yards of the road. Rocco, on duty at the rear end of a train, had signaled to another following to go ahead, and apparently lost his balance as it was passing.

DISBARRED LAWYER LOSES $5000 VERDICT

The Supreme Court today took from Edward T. Bannon, disbarred New Bedford lawyer, a verdict of $5000 granted him by a jury in Bristol County Superior Court.

Bannon was awarded this amount for words which cost his atty. Asa Auger of New Bedford. Auger had charged Bannon with larceny and concealing a mortgage. These complaints were later dismissed at Auger's request and Bannon then sued.

The Supreme Court declared Bannon did not prove in his suit that the larceny case was terminated in his favor and the dismissal amounted to a nol pros, depriving Bannon of the right to sue for malicious prosecution.

2 YOUTHS HELD AFTER CRIMES IN 3 TOWNS

Witawski of Dorchester reported to the Arlington authorities that he gave two youths a ride while passing through East Lexington on his truck. They beat him up and threw him off the truck.

The same two youths, parked in the truck on the state road, Lexington, next held up Russell Bray of School st., Lexington, and took $15. After that they drove toward Belmont and abandoned the truck on Concord ave.

The Belmont police got into action when they received a report of two men breaking into the garage of Glenn W. Husted, 518 Trapelo rd., in the Waverley section. The men were frightened away when someone in the house hearing them, switched on the lights. This is the break with which Campbell and Maitland are charged.

Amazing! the amount of detail in these women's and misses' dresses at $10.75

Usually when you pay only $10.75 for a dress, you do not expect the very newest fashions, but these dresses have them. Fagotting, small patterned prints, and the breaking up of the old straight line which is the new principle of the fashionable silhouette. And usually you do not expect such carefully worked details at the price. These are tucked and cut as well as many higher priced dresses. The sketches at the right are misses', and the one at the left is a woman's style. Misses' sizes 14 to 20. Women's, 36 to 44, $10.75.

NAVAL PLANES WAIT WOUNDED MARINES

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 3—It may be three days before the wounded survivors of Lieut. O'Day's pack train, which was attacked by Sandino's bandits recently will arrive here, brigade headquarters admits.

The wounded men must go by mule-back or bull cart train to Ocotal from Condega. Thence they will go by naval airplane to the naval station here.

Word arrived during the night by way of Ocotal that the wounded men had arrived at Condega where they were looked after by a naval doctor who after a long ride reached the O'Day outfit. Until his arrival the wounded were without other aid than their comrades could give them.

Pvt. Lem C. Davis of Nixon, Tex., reported as seriously wounded in Monday's action, according to the doctor's report, is still in a critical condition. He was shot in the shoulder by the bandits who fired from behind a stone wall surrounding the corral attached to a farm house at the top of the hill.

It is reported that the pack train was attacked while crossing a stream just outside of Pueblo Da rali. Maj. Rowell, returning from an air patrol, reports that there is no better place in Nicaragua for just such an ambuscade than where the bandits attacked the marines under Lieut. O'Day.

From the ranch house where the bandits were presumably helping themselves to lunch, they could shoot down the hill into the ravine and then escape by several trails leading to the mountains, which they did. It was this gang that the airplane bombed Monday shortly after the attack on the pack train.

Three separate detachments are now trailing the bandits northward, including officers and men of the 11th Regiment under Col. Dunlop and 50 men from the regiment under Col. Wallace.

MAYOR FAVORS OUTSIDE AID FOR AIRPORT

Mayor Nichols does not favor committing the city to a lease of the East Boston Airport under the stipulation that Boston spend $50,000 annually for 10 years for its development.

The mayor feels that the airport development is a matter for the entire metropolitan district and that it would be better to raise from $100,000 to $200,000 with outside districts contributing to the total.

The mayor's attitude was transmitted to the legislative committee on harbors and lands by Claude L. Allen, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee. Allen thought the bill before the committee should be referred to the next annual session of the Legislature, but that the committee should report favorably a bill to authorize the city to spend money on the airport under the supervision of the public works department.

A communication addressed to the committee by Col. Lindbergh was read by Porter Adams. Lindbergh wrote:

"The Boston airport has, in my opinion, wonderful opportunities for development, and should prove of distinct benefit to Boston. Under present conditions, however, it is too small for any large development of aviation here. I understand there is a plan by which the S ate will make it possible for the city of Boston to develop the airport, and I sincerely hope it may be possible for such a plan to be carried out."

FIREMAN RISKS LIFE FOR DOGS

Salem, March 2—Ladderman Cloutman of the local fire department risked his life to save three sick dogs from the flames which destroyed a barn on the Thomas Farm on Highland ave. early today, the dogs attempting to scratch and bite their rescuer.

Recently the place had been used as a dog hospital. Fourteen automobiles were destroyed in the flames which razed the barn, while 60 horses belonging to the Salem unit of the National Guard screamed in fear in another barn nearby.

They were untouched by the flames, however.

BIGGER HOUSE OPPONENTS WIN FIGHT IN COMMITTEE

Washington, March 2 (INS)—Opponents of proposal to increase the size of the House of Representatives won a victory today when the census committee voted to report a bill for congressional reapportionment in 1931. The vote was 10 to 8. The committee adopted a compromise between bills sponsored by Rep. Fenn (R.) of Connecticut and Rep. Jacobstein (D.) of New York.

SHY OF GHOSTS, SLAYS WOMAN

York, Ala., March 2 (AP)—An automobilist afraid of ghosts was the possible slayer of Mrs. D. A. McDonald, wife of a dairy farmer, whose body, clad only in a nightgown, was found on a highway, police declared. She had been shot to death.

Mrs. McDonald, according to a police theory was walking in her sleep when a nervous motorist fired at her and then sped away.

A small boy's suit was found clasped in the woman's arms, and it was believed that her subconscious mind had prompted her to go, while still asleep, to the side of her four-year-old son who was spending the night at the home of her brother-in-law, two miles away.

THOUSANDS DELAYED BY VIADUCT TIEUP

Rush-hour traffic was at a standstill, delaying thousands today, when a trolley wire broke on the viaduct near Lechmere sq. station, Cambridge, halting traffic in both directions. Many passengers, tired of waiting, walked.

An emergency crew was sent to the scene to repair the break, but it was 20 minutes before cars were again passing over the viaduct and traffic was delayed for a much longer period over the entire line between Kenmore station and Lechmere. Cambridge st. car traffic was also seriously affected.

MOTHER HURLS BABY INTO SEWER FOR SPILLING RUM

Lille, France, March 2 (AP)—The rum was attributed today the horrible act of a mother at the village of Cauchy-Latour. Because he upset a bottle of liquor she was about to drink in company with her mother-in-law, a miner's wife named Dhalande seized her two-year-old son Abel, carried him to the yard and threw him down the sewer. The body was found there and the woman was arrested. Police said she readily admitted the crime.

Gold and Silver Plane Is Built for DuPont

New York, March 2 (AP)—The New York American today says the most luxurious airplane ever constructed is being built at the Bellanca aircraft factory for Henry B. du Font of the wealthy Delaware Du Font family and financial backer of Giuseppe M. Bellanca, airplane designer.

Fitted with gold and silver and with oil decorations inside and outside, the American says, the plane will be valued at more than $100,000. Even the navigating instruments will be made of precious metal.

In other respects the plane will resemble the Columbia, which Clarence D. Chamberlin flew to Germany with Charles A. Levine.

HOPE REED CAN STOP SMITH IN CALIFORNIA

Washington, March 2 (INS)—Senator James A. Reed's entry into the California primary to "fight it out" with other aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination was regarded by Democratic leaders in Washington today as an event of outstanding political importance.

It means, they believe, a showdown that will throw a lot of light on the question that buzzes continually in Democratic quarters these days, to wit: "Can Smith be stopped?"

Four years ago California's 26 delegates were for William G. McAdoo. For many weary hours they went down the line for McAdoo without wavering or faltering. McAdoo announced his withdrawal from the 1928 race a year ago, and since that time the Smith people have claimed California's 26 delegates in the 1928 convention for their own. The New York governor has many friends in the State and they have been laboring industriously in his behalf.

Reed's announcement that his hat is in the California ring, and that a slate of Reed delegates will be presented in every district in the primary of May 1, now alters the situation very materially. Where the Smith people had expected an easy conquest, or no contest at all, it now becomes evident that there is to be a real battle for 26 delegates unless the Smith managers evade the issue, and no one here believes they will.

REBELS ELUDE MARINES; SANDINO FLEES TO WILDS

Managua, Nicaragua, March 2 (INS)—Gen. Augustino Sandino's rebel force that ambushed a detachment of United States marines on the Yali-Condega trail on Monday, killing five and wounding nine, has escaped into the jungle and the pursuing marines have so far been unable to establish a contact with them, according to word received today from Jinotega.

It is believed that the rebels got away before the marines could inflict any casualties upon them. Of the wounded men only Pvt. L. C. Lewis of Nixon, Tex., is in serious condition.

HOOVER WITHDRAWS NAME IN WISCONSIN PRIMARY

Washington, March 2 (AP)—Secretary Hoover intends to remain out of the Republican primaries in Wisconsin. Announcement was made in his behalf today that his name had been entered at Madison as a presidential candidate "by an unauthorized person" and would be withdrawn.

Boy Dies in Electric Chair That He Had Invented

Spokane, Wash., March 2 (AP)—An experiment, apparently to test an "electric chair" he had constructed, caused the death of Kenneth F. Brooks, 16-year-old high school senior.

The body, unclad except for a pair of trunks was found in the chair in the boy's room by a brother. Handcuffs and chains with wires leading to an electric light circuit encircled ankles and wrists. The current was controlled by a small switch in the youth's hand.

Police scouted a suicide theory when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Brooks told of his brilliant scholastic standing and said he often had experimented with chains, handcuffs and padlocks and studied electricity.

PLAN DATA FOR TOUR OF GOLD STAR MOTHERS

The Butler bill to provide for a Government-financed pilgrimage of Gold Star mothers and widows to the graves of their soldier sons and husbands buried overseas awaits only endorsement by the United States Senate and signature by the President before becoming law.

Meanwhile, it is announced today, the Boston Evening American and other Hearst newspapers, sponsors of the idea, are preparing to establish in their offices information bureaus for the Gold Star mothers and wives, where all data can be supplied and forms and affidavits issued to the women eligible for the trip.

Once the bill has been passed by the Senate and the President has signed it, the eligible women are invited to call or write to the information bureau of the Boston Evening American and they will be given full details and will be aided in making out the necessary papers.

This will be a service free of charge and will be done in the Hub by the Boston Evening American in recognition of the sacrifice for patriotism made by the women whose loved ones died for their country.

Goes to Jail So His Pal Can Take Honeymoon

Wheaton, Ill., March 2 (INS)—A real-life enactment of Charles Dickens' novel, "The Tale of Two Cities," came to light here today when Thomas Novilla, a chivalrous and romantic youth, admitted to his cell in the Wheaton jail that he had substituted for John Rinlll, his friend, so that Rinlll could embark on his honeymoon.

Rinlll, it develops, was arrested several weeks ago for violating the prohibition law. His trial was set for the date on which he was scheduled to be married. He went to Novilla, his best friend, with a proposition.

"We look enough alike to put this over," said Rinlll. "You go in court and say you are me. Plead guilty and accept the sentence. Stay in jail till I get through with this honeymoon business and then I'll relieve you. I'm sure you don't mind doing an old friend a favor."

Thomas obliged. He posed as John and was sentenced to 180 days in jail. But that was 15 days ago and friend John has failed to appear. Irritated by the "double-cross," Thomas confided his secret to Sheriff Lawrence Hattendorf. The latter predicts both men will be given an additional "stretch" for trifling with the courts.

CONVICT GIVEN READING'S O. K., IS CHARGE

A convict in State Prison, serving a term for the embezzlement of town funds, was passed upon as "eligible to be a master of chancery" by Atty.-Gen. Arthur K. Reading, according to the newest charge brought against the executive who is the center of a legislative probe.

Pittsfield folk were amazed when they learned that Michael Flynn, 2d, former tax collector, had been named as master in chancery, and they immediately queried the State House as they knew that Flynn is serving a five-year term for embezzling some $32,000 of the town's funds.

An investigation was immediately started and the trail led directly to the attorney-general's office, according to Herman A. McDonald, the governor's secretary.

The governor had sent the list of names to the attorney-general, the usual procedure being for that executive to investigate each appointee. Flynn's name came back with the others as being all right, and the governor merely passed on the appointments to the Council as a matter of routine.

The committee appointed to investigate every act of the attorney-general since he took office, with its ninth member, Rep. Chester A. Pike of Springfield, duly appointed, begins its active work at the beginning of next week, when counsel will be chosen.

ASKS DIVORCE BE ANNULLED FOR INSANITY

Portland, March 1 (AP)—Whether a divorce granted Dr. Joseph Melnick of this city from Bessie R. Melnick of Boston, in Superior Court here last April should be annulled is a question on which Judge Fred Emery Beane reserved decision today after a hearing.

Judge Beane granted the divorce decree. Now Mrs. Melnick avers that she was insane at the time the decree was granted, and under Maine laws an insane person cannot be divorced.

Two alienists testified today in an effort to bolster her contention, while a doctor, as witness for the husband, testified Mrs. Melnick was sane at the time of the divorce last April.

It is probable that the Maine law court will pass on Judge Beane's decision on the annulment petition. The procedure is unique and climaxes litigation in courts of Maine and Massachusetts which started in 1925. The Melnicks were married in 1918 and have three children.

HAYS PASSES UP HEARING ON FILM BOOKING BILL

Washington, March 2 (AP)—Will H. Hays, chairman of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, has left Washington without testifying at the Senate hearings on "block booking" of films. The Senate Interstate commerce committee concluded hearings today on the Brookhart bill to restrict distribution methods by which it has been charged exhibitors were forced to accept inferior products along with those of better grade or get none at all.

"I cannot get a picture from any major organization," said J. Dondis, owner of the Strand Theater, Rockland, Me., at today's hearing. He alleged cutthroat competition and boycott methods by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

RUM NO DRAWING CARD ON LINERS, ONE MAN THINKS

Washington, March 2 (AP)—The majority of the American trans-Atlantic travelers prefer the "dry" American liners to the foreign steamers "with liquor bars" in the opinion of Rep. Wainwright, Republican, New York. Before the House merchant marine committee today on behalf of his bill to authorize $30,000,000 to build two liners for the shipping board's Atlantic fleet, Wainwright contended that liquor on for Americans.

POETIC WILL PUZZLE TO NEW YORK TITLE COMPANY

New York, March 2 (INS)—Is a rhymed will legal?

This is the question puzzling the New York Title & Mortgage Company.

In examining title to premises at 149th st. and Timpson pl., the Bronx, the unique will was discovered.

It was filed by Morris Dietsch. It reads:

"All my earthly goods I have in store,
To my dear wife I leave for evermore.
"I freely give, no limit do I fix,
"This is my will and she the executrix."

McMillan Radio Man Gets Word to Chicago in Ten Minutes

Binghamton, N. Y., March 2 (AP)—Held captive by ice in Anatalok bay, North Labrador, Cliff Hinne, radio operator with the MacMillan polar expedition, sent a message to relatives in Chicago which was picked up here by A. L. Kent, radio amateur and relayed to Chicago. Hinne's relatives got the word from him 10 minutes after he had sent it.

The MacMillan operator said the party is living in huts on the ice, enjoying good meals and entertained by radio programs from the United States, England and Russia. They are hunting and skiing while waiting for the ice to melt.

Hangman Unworried As Death Nears for Doris McDonald

Montreal, March 2 (INS)—Arthur Ellis, Canadian hangman scheduled to execute Doris McDonald on March 23 at Valleyfield, declared today the task does not worry him. The secretary of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association had asked him whether his nerves would be affected by the ordeal.

"The idea of hanging a guilty woman does not worry me in the least," Ellis said, "and though I feel flattered by the society's concern for my health I can assure them that it will be unaffected by the ordeal. If they feel we ought to have a woman to hang a woman, let them find one and I will gladly make room for her."

'EASIEST WAY' TO BE FILMED ONCE MORE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

LOS ANGELES, March 2—More years ago than most of us care to remember, Dan Sully played a play called "The Easiest Way." In the City [illegible] freely discussed it [illegible] did not cause much of a [illegible] on the stage. But when [illegible] came along and said "I am going to do it for good and to hell" the audience sat up and gasped.

Now Myron Selznick and Frank Young, two producers, are about to revive "The Easiest Way" for the screen.

The subject, [illegible] don't need much imagination [illegible] to see that in after reading [illegible] will know it will be good. [illegible] Sully Young secured it when [illegible] as a movie based on this play about ten years ago.

What next after the movies? Any theatrical [illegible] will tell you it's vaudeville. Here we have Tom Mix, voted the most popular hero on the screen, just about to take a vacation between picture engagements. Can you wonder what Tom has accepted? His cache is Denver shortly, where he and Tony will do an act for the approval of the Denverites.

Tom is just smart enough to capitalize on his popularity. That salary is said to be $3500 a week. What Tony gets I don't know. That sounds to me as if it's movies have a potent rival in vaudeville.

Constance Talmadge could have earned $100,000 in the two-a-day if she had chosen, but, said Constance, "What could I do in vaudeville? I don't sing, I don't dance and I've never been on the stage in my life. Let some vaudeville man answer that.

What did Noah [illegible]? Well some of the kiddies [illegible] stepping forward and claiming Warner Brothers.

Sixty five biblical works have been read and okayed in addition. All they know about Noah is that he went out and proved to the goodness of the world and did his best to get people away from sin. Canute tall, lanky Henry Wall will have been mentioned as the likely prospect for old man Noah. My candidate is Peter the Hermit, Hollywood's picturesque old man, who trails up and down the streets of Hollywood with his dog and cane.

It is now quite certain that Dolores Costello will have one of the leading roles in Vitagraph's [illegible] that Louise Fazenda will have another. Both of Mr. Irving's [illegible] been approved by Mr. Hubert, the director, who is now [illegible] some time next month. But Noah still remains the mystery.

CHAPTER 16

THE Black Death of 1348-49 devastated a quarter of Europe, killed 25,000,000 people, and drove Boccaccio outside the walls of France, where he whiled away the time writing the Decameron. In India the pest has killed almost 6,000,000 lives in 10 years. And still plague is carried or carried by animals, and one transmitted to man by fleas, lice, mosquitoes or other parasites.

PITS BABY VS. HOME; LOSES?

Wife of Adding Machine Heir Says She Bought Child to Hold Love, but Couldn't

Detroit, March 2 (AP)—Declaring "a woman is entitled to do anything necessary to save her home," Mrs. Myron L. Boyer admitted today that she had deceived her husband respecting the birth of a son and heir.

The [illegible], a son of Joseph Boyer, chairman of the board of the Paramount-Adams Magazine Corporation, has filed a petition in [illegible] court asking [illegible] officials to expunge from the State archives a record which now states the boy is his son. The petition charges, and Mrs. Boyer admits, that she adopted the child now four years old, in its infancy and misled Boyer into believing it was his own.

Mr. Joseph, until recently the undisputed heir to millions, now faces the possibility of not only losing his heritage of fortune and name, but with being taken from the only person he has known as [illegible] Mr. L. Zurbrick, district director of [illegible], said today.

The child, born in Detroit and [illegible] with a few hours old [illegible] by Mrs. Boyer, may have been [illegible] brought into this country, Zurbrick said.

He said Mrs. Boyer was prepared to appear Monday [illegible] before a special board of [illegible] who will determine whether or not [illegible] was brought into the [illegible] legally and should be deported.

"BABY IS WORTH IT"

"Everything Mr. Boyer [illegible] has said is true. I did adopt a boy a few hours old and I did it [illegible] knew it was only a child," Mrs. Boyer said.

"It was a despera[illegible] to save our home. I thought [illegible] could love [illegible] Mr. Boyer [illegible] child. I [illegible] Then not even the boy could [illegible] that.

"I have lost a home, but won a child, and the deceit has been worth a thousand times what it cost," she added. "I love this boy more than anything else in the world."

RADIO DIALOG

BETTY ALDEN, society editor of the Boston Evening American, in lightly observing the doings of the smart monde at Palm Beach, Fla., was called for WLOE at 8 o'clock tonight, will be replaced in one to be designated by Miss Susan B. Mears on "Making a Newspaper." Miss Mears is librarian of the Boston Evening American and she has been in frequent demand by clubs for discussion of some of the well known features of newspaper production.

Acknowledging a wide public interest expressed in letters, telephone calls and personal visits to the Hotel Bingham and Hotel Studio of WEEI, officials of the station recommenced this morning the series of 10 Boston Family Plays. They are written by Josephine Preston and Robert Peabody Perkins, and produced by the Houghton and Dutton players. The players are given during June Bradford's Half Hour, and the first series this morning was Mr. Benton's Quiet Evening at Home.

THE first broad set of Boldface programs in regular matinee form will be presented by WJZ from 1:30 to 4 o'clock this afternoon. The first of the broadcasts in the Aeolian Hall Luncheon Club series will be given by Mrs. Sidney Hillman, wife of the president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, who will speak on "Women in Industry."

Heretofore there has been nothing in the Clicquot Club broadcasts to prove that Eskimos really look upon accept the jingling of sleighbells and the uttering of sounds resembling the barking of sled dogs. Last night, however, a real Eskimo, named Teddy Kakgtuk, participated in the program through WEAF-WEEI and other stations of the Red Chain. The program was in honor of Comdr. Donald MacMillan, American explorer, who is at Etatalok Bay, Labrador, and presumably sat last night with his earphones glued to his head.

A MESSAGE from MacMillan, Radio said, that by G. Donald Mac[illegible] was so fan of Rudolph Wurlitzer's organ that he [illegible] Clicquot Club program and [illegible] would be able to hear it [illegible] to listen to the sounds of the [illegible] from the frozen atmosphere of the North.

CAPT. RICHMOND P. HOBSON —you remember him he's the man who was so thoroughly kissed after his exploit in bottling up the Spanish fleet—gave an interesting talk over WJZ last night, this subject was the "Narcotic Drug Menace." Hobson traced the use of the drug from the Orient, its leap into prominence with modern discovery of more refined and powerful narcotics, and he pointed out the effect of increased drug addiction upon criminal and sociological problems.

ON WBZ, Frank Sheridan, brilliant young American pianist, was the guest soloist on the Ampico half hour that featured tenor Frank Munn, a frequent contributor to this program, was heard in "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak, and "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby," Rasedan (play) "Dedicating" of Schumann, and the Ampico played his recording of Brahms' Rapsody, Op. 119, No. 4.

IF time hangs heavy some morning and you want piquant diversion, tune in on Senator Hegal S. Copeland, former Health Commissioner of New York, talking through WBZ and other stations of the Blue Chain. Dr. Copeland talks on health, and some of the letters which he receives from his feminine followers make his hour sound like an organ recital.

ONE woman wrote in and said, "I drink a great deal of coffee and it doesn't seem to do me any harm. Should I stop drinking it?" The answer was, "If it is not doing you any harm, why think about stopping it? Personally, I drink lots of coffee, and its only effect seems to be a stimulation of the senses. I find my hearing so stimulated that I can hear the dropping of a leaf on the roof."

The saying goes that you can trust a man with whom dogs or babies make friends. It ought to be reasonable to add to that group the man who likes his coffee and admits it.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

BAY STATE SCHOOLS IN BIG MEET

Many Teams in Annual Scholastic Track Games at East Armory Tomorrow

The Tenth Annual Massachusetts' High School Athletic Association meet, or the "State" meet as it is better known, will be held at the East Armory, tomorrow afternoon, and the first event is scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p. m.

This is the last indoor meet of the season for most of the schools to take out the state although there are some winter dual meets to fill the last season for the city and district high schools will come to an official close with the residential games a week from tomorrow.

Each year the state meet, since its establishment in 1918, has shown great improvement. With 350 athletes from twenty-four schools contesting tomorrow the affair is expected to be bigger and better than any held in the course of ten years.

The meet is contested in two divisions, class A and class B. In class A the stronger schools are listed while the slightly weaker trains are rated in class B. There are always some in class B who could run in class A division and vice versa, but the rating is well founded.

ALL SEEDED PLAYERS ADVANCE

Forest Hills, N. Y., March 2 (AP)—Play in the second annual intercollegiate indoor tennis tournament for the Learned cup was well into the third round of singles at the Cornell drill hall at noon today.

Seeded players advanced without a set. John W. Van Ryn of Princeton was among the seeded players to gain a third round by virtue of a bye. Van Ryn, runner-up to Frank Shields of Hill last year, won the second match of the tournament.

Princeton went into the lead in the team point scoring with two points in the first round, four in the second and three in the third.

Summaries:

STATE TITLE MATCH FOR VERMONT FIVES

Burlington, Vt. (AP)—The Rotary Club of Rutland has invited the University of Vermont and Middlebury college basketball teams to meet in their city during the coming week to play off the title for the state college championship.

Red Sox Prepare for Practice Battles

By JOE CASHMAN

Bradenton, Fla., March 2—Today's practice session consisting of a batting and fielding drill, is the last of its kind the Red Sox will engage in for some time.

The athletes have rounded into form so rapidly in Bradenton's perfect climate, that Manager Carrigan has decided that most of them are ready for a series of scrub games and will stage the first one tomorrow afternoon.

It will be a six inning affair, according to present plans, and two pitchers will work for each side, hurling [illegible] innings.

Carrigan will not announce the lineup of either team until after today's practice. But it is certain that every man in the squad with the exception of Jim Penniball and Buddy Myer, who didn't get into action until yesterday, and a few of the pitchers, will see service in the opener, today.

Jimmy MacFayden, Jack Russell, Harold Wilkie and Clifford Garrison are the hurlers Manager Bill plans to toss into the fray. They are in fine shape after 10 days of hard work and are expected to give a good account of themselves.

All five catchers on hand, Fred Hofmann, Johnny Heving, Eugene Berry, Ed Doherty and Ed Connolly will go behind the bat. The receivers like most of the flingers are in great trim.

While Carrigan is still undecided as to the makeup of the team, outside of the battery positions it is likely that the regulars infield will be composed of Phil Todt at first, Joe Dugan at second, Red Kress at short and Jack Rothrock at third.

EAGLES SEND THREE TEAMS TO I. C. 4-A MEET

Three Boston College relay teams and C. Owen Dooley, hurdler, will leave on the 6 o'clock train from the South Station tonight for New York, where they will wind up their indoor track season with the I. C. A. championships at the 102nd Regimental Armory, tomorrow night.

Boston College is defending its two-mile relay title won last winter at these games by Luke McCloskey, Joe Ingoldsby, Bill McKillop and Babe Daley.

The first three men have graduated, while Daley is captain of this year's outfit and one of Jack Ryder's best runners.

Bill Mulcahy, Walter Rogers, John McLaughlin and Captain Daley will be the defending quartet. Ryder is optimistic about these boys retaining the crown, but they'll have to be at their very best to do so. Georgetown, New York University and Bates have teams trailing the two-mile baton title now held by the Eagles.

RYDER IS CONFIDENT

Georgetown raced Ryder's four just a week ago and managed to win by a scant four yards. It was the best performance of the winter for the B. C. team and gave them new courage. Bates, too, took the measure of the B. C. team at the B. A. A. games. New York University's team will have the speedy Phil Edwards running anchor.

In spite of the stiff competition that makes the Eagle hopes gloomy, Ryder still thinks that his team will carry off the honors in the particular event, and also hopes to see his freshman medley team come through a winner.

The yearlings will have Charley Finn in the 220 lap, Bob Sullivan in the quarter, Tommy Meagher in the half and Bert Trum in the mile. All four boys were stars in high school and have picked up some track knowledge under the careful tutoring of Ryder.

This freshman team will be right in the leaders at the finish, and stand a fine chance of winning the event, although they'll be facing the best pike teams in the East.

Ryder has jotted the mile team around a bit with the hope that they might turn in better times than in the races in which they have engaged this season. He has two new members in the persons of John Kelley and John Tripodi. Kelley is a senior who was under cover until he reported for a bit of exercise and caught the eye of the B. C. coach.

DOOLEY IN HURDLES

Tripodi will be running his first race for the varsity. He was a member of the freshman team last year and has improved a great deal this winter. Henry Keenan, a veteran, will start off the mile team and John Sullivan, another sophomore, will run anchor.

Ryder has hopes for two victories in the three relay events and it wouldn't be surprising to see his expectancies realized. The two-mile team is good and with a bit of fortune can take the measure of their previous conquerors, Georgetown and Bates. The freshman outfit is one of the best. Sullivan, Meagher and Finn will match any three in the country in their respective legs in the medley. If Trum can turn in a good mile B. C. will have a '31 title.

Owen Dooley has been entered in the high hurdles and, although he may not give Monty Wells a good brush for the honors, will be right in the thick of the battle. Dooley combines great strength with good timber talent and this union may bring him a third or fourth place tomorrow night.

23 Colleges Entered in I. C. 4-A Meet

Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A. and Sabin Carr of Yale, both recent winners of additional athletic laurels, are determined to do still more record-breaking in the annual indoor track and field intercollegiate championships at the 102d Engineers armory tomorrow night.

Definite announcement that Hahn would compete in a special half mile race in an endeavor to smash the 2:4-second world's record was made yesterday by James A. Taylor for the Intercollegiate Association. The record, 1 minute 1:5 seconds, was set by Eli B. Parsons of Yale, at Buffalo, in 1904.

Carr will shoot for a new world's record in the pole vault to beat his own record of 14 feet 1 inch, made in the Garden last Saturday.

Twenty-three colleges are entered in the championship, with Harvard defending the team title and trophy won by the Cambridge forces for the last two years. Cornell, Georgetown, Yale and Penn State are among the strong contenders. It is the belief of many college coaches and officials that the final standing this year will be even closer than last year, when Harvard, Yale, Cornell and Penn State finished within four points at the top.

INTIMATE MOMENT IN DELANEY-HEENEY BOUT

HEENEY BEATS DELANEY IN SLOW BOUT

New York, March 2—Two rusted old rocks of the ring arena, Tex Heeney, tricked Tommy Delaney some twelve feet around in the Madison Square Garden last night in all that sort of thing to win the decision after a ten-round battle that surprised him. He has been playing big league ball for 13 years and three-year contracts are strictly of his age are rare, extremely.

His salary is the same the Gatun paid, reputed more or less nationally as something above $40,000. Hans Lobb is the only other diamond athlete who makes more.

"Sure I'm happy," quotes Rogers. "Why wouldn't I be? I knew that I would get the same salary New York paid me for that contract had a year to go. But I didn't expect a three year baby. Things like that aren't supposed to happen on seventh place clubs. I have been delighted every time I joined the Braves, and now I know it's the best club in town.

"I'll sure hope that I can lead the league in hitting for the three years and I hope just as strongly that I will finish my big league career with Judge Fuchs, helping to knock in world series runs 10 years from now.

LIKES BRAVES SPIRIT

"I have always been a great believer in harmony and team spirit and I have seen more of the right kind down here in a couple of weeks than I thought there could be. Jack Slattery and the Judge are a wonderful combination to head a ball club, I'll tell the world. They deserve to have all the luck there is and if I don't break a leg I'll be in there breaking my neck to help them get it. That goes."

Daily games will be put on, extending to seven innings, until the Tribe gets off on the regular exhibition schedule with the Red Sox at Bradenton a week from today.

HORNSBY'S BIG SALARY

To Hornsby contract is the largest topic of the season in baseball, baring Rogers Hornsby to deny and swears undying loyalty and all that sort of thing. ONE reason that bars the frequent serving of fish in many homes is that of convenience. There's no denying that it is a pleasant task to prepare fish. Even to most experienced cooks objects to it. Nor can we deny that a fish is not a fattening, economical and wholesome food.

Today modern science, in the form of quick freezing, has come to the rescue of the housewife and has made it possible to have fresh fish at all times. Many markets, you will find, carry cod and pollock in addition to the regular assortment of frozen fish. Frozen fish is just as good as fresh fish, and it is always ready to cook.

Cod is one of the most economical fish to buy. It is a lean fish, containing only a small quantity of fat, which is distributed throughout the flesh. Because of this fact, cod is a fish which can be cooked with a touch of fat pork, bacon or butter to make it more palatable. Cod is also a fish which contains a large amount of iodine. It is one of the few foods which contain this valuable mineral. Iodine is necessary for the proper functioning of the thyroid gland. Without any of the iodine of fresh fish, frozen fish contains the same amount of iodine as fresh fish.

"Jerry" by ELENORE MEHERIN AUTHOR of "CHICKIE"

A Story of Mad Moonlight Kisses and a Wonderful Young Girl

CHAPTER 23.

SUNDAY it rained—one of those fine, silver rains that comes from a gray sky; that keeps falling and falling with still, resolute dreariness. Nothing virile, nothing fresh and wild. Just a gray persistent hush and melancholy.

They had a crackling fire in Marza's living room, glow on tiles and green covers of books, waver light on the pictures, and dim on the piano a throng of shadows.

They sat over a tile hearth. Fairest of things moved in a flash of gauzy a golden lamp.

Now Fio Arnold and Boris Ivanovitch, the Russian painter, discussing the future of art in boston—a new, round Akron with Phidias and Praxiteles reincarnated.

Now Marza stooping to rake the coals, the more fleeting line of her chin and throat toned with radiance from the fire.

Now Robert Caples moving to the piano. He played softly—the ballad music from Faust. That delicate and perfect, perfect music. And he played from that to passionate, tender, tragic music.

"Why, I didn't know you could play like that," Jerry, staring hear [h]e window. The music [s]eemed to rise from Marza's fingers. And the rain on the roof—dreary, incessant, desolate—and the pain in her heart.

After three now—long after three. He wasn't coming. She hadn't missed him his pains. He was probable with Ora now.

She pressed her forehead against the damp window pane. The music swelled to rapture. Robert Caples playing to Marza—to herself alone, his homely face now fascinating with that boyish, eager pleading look.

Marza's head flung back against the cushioned lips parted with a red, dreaming smile.

"He loves him," thought Jerry, bitterly, "and holds him utterly."

Suddenly she was flying across the room and Marza calling playfully:

"Not on our piano—"

Through the almost suffocating rapture of "Ah fio—you're here."

"And you're one fooled Jerry, aren't you?"

"Indeed not."

"Liar! You've had me damned and burned, haven't you?"

He winked and shook a powdery raindrops in her face. "Not four [t]imes."

"Who cares?"

The fact is, the day we unbearably dismal now a-beam with gladness.

"You may say that again" she or[d]ered Robert. "play it again and put in more cadenzas or trills."

The day was filled with gladness now Saxon had come.

South to the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

In Monday's issue Mr. Whitehead will explain the salient points in the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own chart and compare it with his method.

These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i. e., as though all four hands were exposed.

Salient Points of the Bidding

MAJOR SUIT TAKE-OUT OF NO TRUMP

South's high-card values and the suit distribution of his hand call for an original No Trump bid. West's high-card strength is not sufficient to warrant either an overcall or a double. North's take-out of his partner's No Trump by a bid of two Spades, while sound, would be doubtful as a better game-going bid, but for the presence of the singleton Heart. Fast passing South also passes, having no reason to disturb North's Major take-out.

Salient Points of the Play

IMMEDIATE PROVISION FOR NECESSARY DISCARDS

Trick 1—Declarer goes up with Dummy's Ace of Diamonds to establish top Hearts immediately for needed discards. He gets away the probable loss of two Club tricks if West should win with the King of Diamonds and return a Club.

Trick 2—While West would not accurately determine the location of the Queen of Hearts, he places it as probably with Declarer, since if not held by him, Declarer would naturally wait and lead Hearts from it all from his own hand to him. By a King-Jack, Accordingly West comes up with the Ace of Hearts.

Had declarer not taken the first trick with the Ace of Diamonds West, upon winning with the King could, by shifting to Clubs, have established two Club tricks and same would have been impossible.

LEARN TO FORGIVE AND FORGET MANY THINGS

By J. J. MUNDY

IT is hard for you to apologize, even when you are wrong.

Have you had a misunderstanding, a vigorous quarrel?

You know you were at fault but you won't say so.

Childish pride keeps you from saying what you now have come to see—that you were wrong.

And what are you getting out of it all?

It may be a quarrel with some friend, with whom you would like again to be closely associated.

It may be some member of your own family, but whoever it is, you won't give in, and so you punish yourself with your obstinacy.

If you were wrong and the other person right you are punishing yourself more than he or she is punished.

And life is too short to harbor ill-feeling.

Life is too short to harbor mean and disagreeable thoughts concerning anyone, whether those thoughts are right or wrong.

Be the first one to make an effort toward reconciliation.

At least begin to think kind thoughts and time may take care of the matter till you are put in position to straighten things out.

NOBLEST OF CREEDS

By LUCY LOWELL

THE religion we need, it seems to me, is not one which will tip us off on how to act in some vague, future existence to be gone through after we die.

What we want is a practical creed that can be put to use here and now; something to make our lives happier, more helpful to others, more satisfactory to ourselves.

For none, so far as I know, denies that the hereafter is no more than a continuance of the here—with conditions changed in a greater or less degree, according to the character of the faith.

And what more reasonable basis of religion could there be than kindness?

Kindness to those who are in need of the classical word, the gentle hand extended to assist faltering steps over a rough place. The deep-dyed genuineness of good-will which wishes for the brother what one has for one's self—or something, perhaps, a bit better?

The fair, high motives which accords to others what one wishes others to give to one's self.

This and the willingness to do, to engage in constructive effort. For the lazy man is not kind and cannot be kind: he is making a burden of the world's greatest blessing—work—and loading it upon the shoulders of someone else.

But the one who accomplishes his share of toil, whether it be digging a ditch or painting a masterpiece, benefits not only himself but humanity, provided he does his work with kindness in his heart.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

SOME women are born for unhappiness; some make themselves unhappy, and some fall in love with a philanderer—and have unhappiness in large chunks thrust upon them. You know the type!

* * *

The average man's love is apt to be sketchy and impressionistic, and to leap lightly from woman to woman; but once he has been caught, harnessed and led up the old path to the altar, he is likely to trot along faithfully, like good old Dobbin, for the rest of his life.

* * *

But the philanderer will never STAY PUT! No matter how many times he may go through the wedding ceremony, he is never more than one-half of one per cent married. He can hardly wait to kiss the bride, before he is off flagging one of the bridesmaids.

* * *

Why or how he ever gets as far as the altar when he never means to go beyond the second kiss, Heaven only knows. Marriage is just an incident or an accident in his life, and it never "takes"!

* * *

Yet no matter how many women he may have fooled, he can always persuade the next woman that, "THIS time it is the Real Thing!" So sublime is woman's optimism!

* * *

All the girls whose hearts he has used for a football, all the women he has "loved" and succeeded in "losing" only make him seem more alluring.

But the philanderer, like Pan, was born without a soul and can never be conquered or tamed. All the bonds of love and law won't TIE him. Devotion soon bores him, tears roll right off of him, and even a curse around his cloven won't make him remember that he's married five minutes after he leaves the house. He is like a "slicker"—nothing penetrates, sinks in or makes an impression on him.

Give the average man enough rope, and he'll soon get so tangled up that he'll come trotting back and ask you to put him on a four-foot leash. But the philanderer will merely use the rope to lasso another woman. His heart is like a barber shop in which the cry is always, "Next."

* * *

Life, to him, is just one adventure after another, one experiment after another, one woman after another!

When he is ninety, he will still be sticking the few remaining hairs across his bald spot, sticking a rose in his coat, and tottering out in search of a passing flapper.

* * *

For his is the love that knows no code, no rules, and no age-limit, the love that never dies—pure, unadulterated SELF-LOVE. The only thing he sees when he looks in a woman's eyes, is his own fascinating reflection!

Little Journeys in the Realms of Culture

In order to stimulate interest in Better Things, this department has arranged to devote five minutes a day to serious matters. The first effort is an exceptionally faithful reproduction of that masterful painting, "Little Red Riding Hood and Her Police Dog."

A plan is on foot in the House of Representatives to issue Lindbergh 50-cent pieces to sell them for a dollar. The extra 50 cents will be used to build air ports.

It's a fine idea.

But it would go over bigger if the Government issued souvenir dollars and sold them for 50 cents.

Congressman Frisby favors the latter plan and has agreed to accept his entire salary in souvenirs.

Dear Me!

The other evening I was invited out to a house party, and being anxious to make a good impression on those present, I asked if I might use the telephone. Removing the receiver, I cleverly concealed the fact that I was holding the hook down. I was "talking in millions," and you can imagine my embarrassment when, in the middle of "a big deal," the telephone rang.

Blushingly,

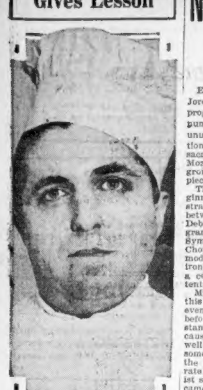
Gives Lesson



ON COOKERY

Joseph Lanfranchi, chef of the Hotel Westminster, who gave some noted recipes to New England housewives at the Martha Lee Kitchen.

HOUSEWIVES HEAR CHEF

From north and south, by motor, bus, train and afoot came the New England housewives to the Martha Lee Kitchen to take advantage of the lesson in the cookery given by Joseph Lanfranchi, chef of the Hotel Westminster.

First Lanfranchi showed how to bone a chicken, leaving the skin whole with all the chicken meat attached to it, minus the framework of the bird. Then a dressing was made, the chicken wrapped around it and roasted, then sliced and eaten by the appreciative audience.

Raviola Genovine was the hit of the party, and for this recipe listen into Station WLOE next Monday, March 5, during the morning meeting of the Martha Lee Women's Club. You will also find these recipes on the radio menu page of the Boston Evening American on the same day.

NEY RECITAL IS UNUSUAL

By MOSES SMITH

Elly Ney gave a piano recital in Jordan Hall last night, featuring a program that included no unfamiliar numbers yet which was arranged in unusual fashion. Opening in conventional fashion with the Bach Passacaglia arranged by Albert and the Monart sonata in C minor, the first group jumped ahead to two Brahms pieces.

Then followed a second group beginning with Prokofiev and ending, strangely enough, with Chopin. In between were Pick-Mangiagalli and Debussy. The last part of the program was devoted to the Schumann Symphonic Variations. Starting Chopin at the end of a group of modern had more than a touch of irony, for his music, now almost a century old, still attracts the attention for its harmonic daring.

Mme. Ney was not at her best in this concert. This was apparent even to one who had not heard her before, first because she has an outstanding reputation, and secondly because parts of the program were so well done that it was obvious that something unusual was hindering the balance from receiving a first-rate performance. Besides, the pianist seemed ill at ease when she first came out on the platform.

Things like the Brahms E-flat major Rhapsody were given stirring rendition. And the Chopin Scherzo in B-flat minor was performed as by a first-rate artist, even though we did not agree with much of the interpretation. The G major Nocturne was overpositled and lacked the ring of sincerity. Much better went the Prokofiev March and the Danse d'Olaf of Pick-Mangiagalli.

She is essentially a dramatic performer. It was not accidental that her group began and ended with vigorous music. Although she has command of the most delicate touch along with a boosting sustension, Mme. Ney seems to lack—at least she lacked last night—the temperament necessary to do well the lyrical portions of her program.

FIND BODIES OF TWO BOYS THROWN IN CANAL

Indians Harbor, Ind., March 2 (AP)—Round tightly by heavy wire and fished from the mid-canal here within eight days of each other, the bodies of two well-dressed boys lay unclaimed in a morgue today. The first body was found February 22.

An autopsy revealed the second boy had been beaten and strangled and thrown into the canal. Drowning was given as the cause of death in the February case. Police think both were slain.

Ravioli Genovine and two bodies bore striking resemblances to each other and were dressed alike, but were thought to be brothers, apparently from a family in easy circumstances.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action within the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary means to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January imediately following his election in November.

Sunday Baseball

H. B. 213 Ought to Pass, Permitting Each Community to Make Its Own Choice

The question of Sunday baseball in Massachusetts will be determined ultimately not by the Legislature but by the local community.

Should House Bill No. 213 be favorably reported by the Committee on Legal Affairs and passed by both branches of the Legislature there still can be no Sunday baseball without favorable action by cities and towns.

Under this bill, Sunday baseball will be permitted in only such cities as accept the act BY VOTE OF THEIR MUNICIPAL COUNCILS.

In the towns, there can be Sunday baseball only BY VOTE OF THE INHABITANTS.

There are said to be members of the Committee on Legal Affairs who believe with the Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Episcopal Bishop of New York, that:

"While Sunday is the Lord's Day and on that day worship should have first place, my own view is that provided our boys and girls perform their religious duties on that day they should then feel quite free to enjoy their tennis or golf or other sports, and I believe it is pleasing to God for them to do so."

But the issue in Massachusetts is red hot and, because it IS red hot, these committeemen appear disposed to sidestep it. The very natural first thought of the legislator who wants to STAY in public life is how to save his own hide. In this case, he is salving his conscience with the reflection that, even if the House rejects the bill—as it did last year 98 to 129—the question will appear upon the ballot in November in the form of a referendum.

Outside of Boston, most of the support of Sunday baseball comes from the boys and young men of amateur and semi-professional ball clubs, always hard pressed to pay for bats and balls and uniforms. They are in no position to pay for such a publicity campaign as should precede a statewide referendum.

A referendum is carried affirmatively only when three-fourths of all who vote have voted "Yes."

In the National Election poll of next November, it may be that 1,000,000 votes will be cast, and that 400,000 voters will choose sides on the Sunday baseball question.

In order to carry the day for Sunday baseball it will be necessary that three-fourths of all who vote on the question FAVOR it.

Should 400,000 express themselves, 100,001 vote "No" and 299,999—ONE LESS THAN THE REQUIRED THREE-FOURTHS—say "Yes," the proposition will be defeated.

Such a referendum is not necessary, at this time. The thing to do now is report and pass H. B. No. 213. Let the City Councils decide in the cities, and everyone vote in Town Meeting.

What if such an arrangement fails to meet with the approval of the Lord's Day League and its friends? Well, they know how to raise the necessary funds, they are not without experience in campaigning and, if public sentiment IS as strongly opposed to this innocent recreation on Sunday afternoon as they believe it to be, polling the necessary three-fourths vote should be for them the merest child's play.

Give our young men a chance. They do not all play golf, own motor-cars or have places at the beach. PASS the Sunday sports bill, which places the question before the local community, and if the good Leaguers do not like that arrangement let THEM move a referendum.

Any young man can be in a worse place on Sunday afternoon than the grandstand of a ball park.

There Is a Way Out

It Is Possible to Cut the Corporation Tax to 7 Per Cent if Congress Will Introduce a Sales Tax

It now seems likely that we shall have no tax reduction by Congress this year.

There is to be an unexpected drop in tax revenues due to a fall-off in business in the last part of 1927.

There is to be an increase over the estimated expenditures due to Mississippi flood prevention appropriations, Boulder Dam, naval construction, farm relief and other necessary measures.

The greatest sufferer from the failure of tax reduction will be business corporations. Those that are successful must go on handing 13½ per cent of their earnings to the Federal Government—1300 million dollars a year.

It is a grievous levy on the results of successful enterprise, which employs labor and keeps the machinery of business operating.

The money thus taken from them for taxation is kept from use on enlarging factories, extending railroads, opening new mines, employing more labor, producing additional goods, creating greater prosperity.

Heavy taxation of corporations is an easy way to get money. But it has its disadvantages, for it means taking money from those who have proved they can employ it profitably and usefully.

When a corporation shows earnings, it is because it has been successful in competing for the public's favor—successful in giving the public lower prices or better goods than its rivals.

Fortunately, there is a way out, if Congress will take it. It is possible to cut the corporation tax to 7 per cent, if Congress will introduce a sales tax, a tax on spending.

We can raise 600 million dollars a year by a small 1½ per cent wholesale tax on all commodities EXCEPT a limited number of necessities of life, such as fuel and foodstuffs.

On a $150 ball gown the tax would be $2.75; on a pair of shoes wholesaling for $4, the tax would be 6 cents. On a $6 hat the wholesale tax would be 9 cents. In many cases

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE old legend had it that some people were changed, especially by night, into a kind of creature called a Were Wolf.

This was a savage that roamed the country and devoured unoffending sheep and other creatures, not sparing men. It was remorseless and a truly ferocious animal, probably possessed of the devil or inhabited by some evil spirit.

All legends will be found to contain in themselves some element of truth about human nature, and the fact is that human nature cannot only be incredibly good but it can be incredibly bad.

Just as some men have risen to heights of nobility, so there are others that have descended quite as low into the depths of depravity.

We are reminded of this in reading the case of a kidnaper in one of our great cities who carried off a child and returned her to her father as a dismembered corpse.

The inconceivable brutality of this deed shocked the American people. It was probably the most bloodthirsty crime which the country's annals afforded.

Any writer of fiction would have been severely censured if he had depicted such a person, but what we would not tolerate in fiction, fact has furnished us. The facts are truly appalling.

We cannot understand such a nature. We cannot conceive a motive for such a crime. The depths of the human heart must contain jungles unspeakably ferocious. There must be persons wholly devoid of any moral restraint and wholly given over to evil passions.

It is the kind of tale that causes every father and mother to shudder and frightens little children. It is not the tale of a diseased fancy, but of actual occurrence.

Horace Bushnell once preached a sermon in which he demonstrated that the dignity of humanity was revealed in its ruins. The very remains of Karnak and Luxor, their grandiose places in the past, show that man was truly great.

And in the same way the debased character which was shown in this crime of kidnaping and murder reveals the depths and, by implication, the heights to which humanity may attain.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I WISH I could put this letter into the hands of every married couple in America. It happens to be written by a wife, but many a letter like this has come from a husband. The condition it portrays works as deadly damage in man's life as in woman's life. Some day we'll be brave enough to say things like this out loud. Then marriage will begin to be a civilized institution.

Dear Miss Robinson—

Last night I heard my husband boasting to some of our friends that we had never been a day apart in nine years. He spoke of it as a wonderful achievement and our friends agreed with him. One of the women said that she envied me a romance like that. I smiled and agreed that I was the luckiest woman on earth. And then suddenly I felt that if I didn't tell the truth to someone I'd explode! So I am telling you. Maybe writing this will give me patience to go on for another nine years—or perhaps it will give me courage to rebel!

Before I go any further, let me make these facts plain. I am a good wife and mother, Miss Robinson. I am devoted to my husband and our two children and our home. I am a church member and a member of the P. T. A. There has never been a breath of scandal against my name. And yet—

DO YOU KNOW WHAT IT MEANS TO BE NEVER A DAY APART IN NINE YEARS?

To always see the same faces and hear the same thoughts over and over and over. NEVER TO BE ALONE BY YOURSELF FOR AN HOUR—

Sometimes I wonder if there is anything of ME left at all. I feel as if I had been blotted out and didn't have an idea or desire left that didn't belong to my husband and children. I am so busy that I don't think about it very often, but when I do, I could scream!

Does that seem terrible to you, Miss Robinson? I suppose it will seem terrible to many people. They won't even understand what I am fussing about. They will think I am lucky. I suppose I am—in a way. If I were just an animal that would be all I'd want. But—

Oh, it is so hard to explain if you're not a writer. I WANT A CHANCE TO BE MYSELF SOMETIMES. Why, I am not even a woman any more. I am just the wife and mother. With their eyes always on me— as if I was a goldfish in a globe.

I suppose I am a little hysterical this morning but my idea of heaven at this moment would be to pack my suitcase, go to the nearest city, register under an assumed name and for one glorious day and night wander around, as I pleased, without seeing a person I know. But if I did, my husband would be terribly hurt. Once I tried to make him see that it would be better for us to part now and then. The most pitiful look came into his eyes. He looked as if I had struck him and he cried out—"Don't you love me any more?" It's impossible to make him understand how a woman feels about these things. So I go on—BUT MUST MARRIAGE ALWAYS BE LIKE THIS?

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

A wise man sees as much as he ought, not as much as he can. —Montaigne.

All work, even cotton-spinning, is noble; work is alone noble. —Carlyle.

A man of courage is also full of faith.—Cicero.

A New Yorker's Europe

by O. O. McINTYRE

HAVRE, March 2—The coast of Normandy is another perpetual drizzle, and the sun rarely shines on Havre. Passengers debouch under a huge shed where the boat train with its comic peanut stand whistle awaits the four-hour trip to Paris.

The boat train trip is a preliminary "joy ride," with plenty of popping corks and suddenly organized quartettes. It expresses the contagious buoyancy peculiar to France. The conductors as well as the gray uniformed train women add their good humor to what is a fine frolic —hooray!

On the outskirts of the town, little boys and girls in black smocks race along the side of the coaches with outstretched hands, shouting, "Pin-nies, pin-nies," and passengers shower centime pieces from windows for the scramble. Mothers stand in the background with mingled expressions of pleasure and slight embarrassment.

Rural France is always the same picture. Saboted peasant women toiling in the fields with their men. Roly-poly bellied Normandy horses pulling ponderous two-wheeled carts. And here and there an ancient chateau with brick-walled garden, dovecote and sheepfold—a Corot come to life.

France utilizes every inch of farming space. There are little orchards that would be lost in Central Park and truck gardens the size of a bed—all as immaculate and well kept as a Fifth avenue window display. There are toy farms with patches of violets, tiny vineyards and belts of plowshed land as though taken from a play box. You have an impression everyone a working for the glory of France these days. The first stop is at Rouen, where Jeanne d'Arc etched her illustrious name on the immortal scroll. On the station platform a tandem team of black goats drew a wine wagon along the train side to assuage what by this time had become an extreme-ly doubtful thirst. After all one can only hold so much.

Along the country roadside workers were pedaling to their daily tasks with wine bottles strapped to the handle bars. The bicycle is the French laborer's flivver.

ON the banks of the Seine stood those immobile fishermen with their side-slung baskets and hand poles. The Seine fisherman is a supreme lesson in optimism. He stands day after day with rarely a catch. He was there before the revolution and he will remain as long as hope springs eternal. He has been caricatured, editorialized and postured into a national joke—but there he stands and somehow you warm pleasantly to his inexhaustible patience.

O, YES—the young girl who came across without the passport evidently out-talked the passport snatchers, for there she sat in a compartment of the boat train puffing her cigarette and smart-cracking with a circle of boy friends. And there I was worrying all the way across because the expiration of my vise was slightly blurred.

FRANCE'S amiable attitude toward dogs is a constant glow for dog lovers. The train conductor suggested mine might occupy a vacant compartment adjoining with the compliments of the Chemins de Fer Etat. And a garcon from the diner brought him a huge bowl of chopped meat.

A FRENCHMAN is the world's best wielder of the toothpick. He does his work openly and unashamed, in contrast to his Broadway brother who imagines he fools the multitude behind a napkin. One in the diner today seemed especially adroit. He had an upward and downward stroke coupled with a ball-bearing motion that—as you vulgar Americans have it—is vo-deo-do.

THE outskirts of Paris indicate nothing of the lure beyond. The tumbledown antiquity is extremely depressing. It is like going through the shabby streets of Chinatown to reach Fifth avenue. Porters swarm through the windows—and here we are in the Gare St. Lazare. It was a nice buggy ride.

There Is a Way Out

it would be absorbed by middlemen and never reach the consumer.

Would the sales tax be unpopular? It is not unpopular in Canada, where a 5 per cent rate is levied. Many Canadians do not know that the tax exists.

Our revenue system lacks a tax on spending. It will be a better system if we raise 600 million dollars by sales tax and 700 million by corporation income tax, instead of taking the whole 1300 millions from successful corporations.

Moreover, by cutting the corporation income tax from 13½ to 7 per cent we shall give a needed stimulus to business and to national prosperity.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

UNNUMBERED times you caught and understood
My thought that was but feebly told, at best,
A fragment, voiced in some swift-changing mood.
Yet by your wise discernment soon possessed,
How often did the wish that went unheard
By heedless ears reach yours, so keen and kind!
And, too, sometimes I spoke a cruel word;
But ever to my faults your love was blind.
So I could bring my cherished dreams to you.
Could show you all my longings, unafraid;
And, soon most prized of all, I found you knew
The sacred words, the thoughts I left unsaid!
